Meanwhile, read this special issue below for some interesting quizzes and information about free theater on-line. And stay safe!

Calling all Heritage Hunt

Entertainers!

From

Dave Klingman

I recently started a YouTube series called “From the Heart of Heritage Hunt,” to feature the works of entertainers from the community, during these challenging times.

I invite all singers, dancers, musicians, actors, or performers of any kind, to please make a video on their Smartphone and call me at x2437 for instructions on how get the video posted to the web using my channel. I know there are many fine performers in your groups that can do it.

If they would rather post it on YouTube themselves, please let me know so I can link my channel to it or publicize it on future episodes of “From the Heart of Heritage Hunt.” If you have not seen my videos, you can access them by searching for DAVANDENT, the name of my YouTube channel. In these crazy times of stay-at-home and social distancing, it is worth remembering that we are still stronger together, than apart. I know our neighbors and friends would be uplifted by sharing our talents with them.

Dave Klingman

PS. If you haven't seen them yet, there are many musical, singing and acting groups using ZOOM to simultaneously record performance pieces that can be subsequently upload to my channel or one of your own.
