Message from Andy

I am in awe of all aspects of theater. It is so easy to purchase a ticket, attend the performance and then go back home. HHLT's last production, Carol Burnett and Friends, had many moving parts including a large cast, stage crew, costumes, props, sets, LSTV and also the publicity with the photography, posters, advertisements and programs. It became a well-organized team with everyone working together and I am proud of you all. We all got to know each other better, too. The show was a great success with an audience total for the three performances at 440. Well done! We are always looking for theater helpers! Please let us know what team you would like to be a part of and we will welcome you with open arms. Our Fall show will be on October 10, 11 and 12.

Although I have done almost all aspects of theater, my favorite is being the Producer, the organizer to help the director, and working the "front of the House" during the shows. I love being a greeter and organizing my ticket ladies. I try and make the audience members feel welcome and the ticket ladies feel special and appreciated. A small act of kindness goes a long way for anyone and it doesn't cost a thing. This quote sums it up:

"People may forget what you said. They may forget what you did. But they will never forget how you made them feel." Maya Angelou

HHLT's Annual Donation to the Performing Arts

Heritage Hunt Little Theater has had a long-standing tradition of contributing to organizations that encourage the Performing Arts in this community. From contributions to the technical side of theater (LSTV), scholarships to students who plan to major in aspects of theater, to donations to local theater and community groups, HHLT has found many worthy groups to help. This year our charitable program has been named to honor our very talented and much loved member Dot Schuetze who passed away this winter. It is now called the Dot Schuetze Memorial Scholarship

The first recipient of the newly-named award is the ArtFactory in Manassas. Founded in 1984 the ArtFactory provides a plethora of related activities for those interested in theater: productions at the Rooftop Theater, senior theater (Past Time Prime Players), youth theater (Pied Piper Theatre), Actors' Studio, and summer theatre camps. HHLT's donation of $1000 will help provide summer camp tuition for youngsters who otherwise might be unable to attend.

Rob and Toby Brock, Andy Mays, and Sandy Grillo met with Director Talya Conroy to present the award.

April Activity: Everybody Loves Raymond

General Meeting

April 27

7:00 pm

Mountain View Room

“Everybody Loves Raymond” is one of TV’s most popular and long-running sitcoms (1996 to 2005). The program was one of several sitcoms to feature stand-up comedians transitioning to television. The star of the show was Ray Romano, and his show was the result of his appearance on the David Letterman late night show. Letterman saw the potential in Romano for a sitcom and became the Executive Producer. The show is centered on the life of an Italian-American everyman named Raymond Barone, a sportswriter for Newsday living on Long Island. In addition to Romano the cast included Patricia Heaton

as his wife Debra, his father and mother (Frank and Marie) played by Peter Boyle and Doris Roberts, Ray’s brother Robert played by Brad Garrett, and the Romano children Ally, Michael, and Geoffrey

Each of the characters possesses a unique personality which becomes readily apparent when they react to the situations at the center of each episode. Though each character is distinct and they react according to their personality. Throughout the long run of the show, they often formed alliances the unlikely members of the cast. The situations often created awkward, embarrassing, or conflicted responses.

The episode (Mia Famiglia) we will read this month involves Ally’s school assignment, Frank’s refusal to help her, and Ray’s hesitation to welcome a distant relative into their home. A side plot involves Frank’s attempts to fix Ray’s furnace.

There are ten characters in the script: Frank, Marie, Ray, Debra, Robert, Ally, Sarina, cab driver, Uncle Mel, and Anna. Please contact Kathryn (1305) or geneofva@gmail.com if you’d like to read a part. Scripts will be delivered in time for you to read through and familiarize yourself with the character.

NEW OPPORTUNITIES AT THE ARTFACTORY

ARTfactory's senior group, Prime Time Players announces auditions for Just a Stage He's Going Through by Pat Cook.

This theatrical fantasy involves Dwight, an average guy, who wakes up in the middle of the night with a horrible feeling that he's on stage somewhere. He looks out and, sure enough, he is on stage somewhere. At least, that's what he sees. Unfortunately, the rest of the characters see the world as it should be, according to them, anyway. His wife, Blanche, simply wants him to go back to bed or go to work. When he does try to go to work, both his reality and the type of characters he runs into seem to get wilder and wilder until he ends up on a couch and talking to (who else?) Dr. Sigmund Freud.

Audition Dates: Wednesday, April 12 from 3 – 4:30 p.m.

Audition Location: Kellar Family Theatre at the ARTfactory, 9491 Battle Street, Manassas, VA 20110
